Re: Arc-fault Breaker Tripping

To whom it may concern,

We have had numerous calls regarding the arc-fault breaker tripping in the _____ room for no apparent reason. As the electrical contractor we have completed trouble shooting measures and find no apparent reason for the nuisance tripping. We are using _____ brand of breakers for the installation in the new homes we are wiring.

As the electrical contractor we are required to follow the state regulations regarding arc fault breakers and this is very costly to have continued service calls for nuisance tripping. With all the new technology in electronics and appliances it is impossible for the arc-fault breaker manufacturers to keep up with the changing technology.

Sincerely,
